

COMMITMENT FOR IMPARTIALITY

Galileo Inspectorate srl is a third-party Inspection Body, which has adequate mechanisms for safeguarding Impartiality to ensure the separation of responsibilities and identifying and reporting the relations between inspections and other activities carried out by the Company, its Partners and its Subcontractors.

The Chief Executive of Galileo Inspectorate srl, Dr. Mario Chidini, publicly states with this declaration that his commitment, as well as that of the whole Company, remains true to the judgement of Impartiality and shows full independence from the elements subject to inspection, all in compliance with the reference standard UNI CEI EN ISO IEC 17020: 2012, applicable to Inspection Bodies.

The technical department and the inspection staff of Galileo Inspectorate srl are not and will not be in any way involved in the design, manufacture, supply, installation, service, maintenance of the elements subject to inspection.

Galileo Inspectorate srl works to achieve full satisfaction of its Customers and interested Parties in the requested inspection activities, providing inspection services according to the following principles:

- Principle of Impartiality, ensuring that there are no conflicts of interest in carrying out inspection activities;
- Principle of Competence of the inspection staff, qualifying and professionally updating the staff dedicated to the service;
- Principle of Objectivity of Conformity Assessments carried out through inspections, with reference to general or similarly applicable requirements and therefore guaranteeing independence, correctness and validity of the issued inspection reports and certificates..

For this purpose, the Management has given a specific task of coordinating the service to the Technical Manager of the Inspection Body, Dr. Giulio Chidini.
